

Eight-Day Banking Holiday Proclaimed In State Of Michigan At Lincoln Day Party

Governor Says Holiday Was Proclaimed In View Of Acute Financial Emergency Existing Throughout The State.

Detroit, Feb. 14 (AP).—With dramatic suddenness, Governor William A. Coughlin today proclaimed an eight-day banking holiday in Michigan at the conclusion of an all-night conference with bankers from all over the state and with federal and state banking officials.

The extraordinary holiday, unprecedented in Michigan, is effective today, and is to continue through February 21. As a matter of fact, the banks will not reopen until February 23, since February 22 is Washington's birthday and a legal holiday.

Governor Coughlin's proclamation said the holiday was proclaimed "in view of the acute financial emergency now existing in the city of Detroit and throughout the state of Michigan."

Governor Coughlin explained that he was summoned to Detroit from Lansing yesterday afternoon to a conference "precipitated by an unforeseen and acute situation which had suddenly arisen in the affairs of one of our leading financial institutions, the Union Guardian Trust Co."

He said it was "the consensus after long conference of those present that the difficulties might be ironed out, provided time could be had for negotiations."

"As matters stood," the governor's statement said, "it would have been necessary to close the doors of the institution involved on the morning of February 14, which would likely bring in its train disaster to many other of our banking institutions in Michigan."

"The crisis was caused by the inability to realize immediately upon the assets of the institution to meet threatened withdrawals. For the protection of smaller depositors in our institutions and to prevent the withdrawal of large sums from the state of Michigan it was deemed wise to declare a banking holiday for a period sufficiently long to allow the situation to be cleared up."

A supplemental statement from Arthur A. Ballantine, under secretary of the treasury, said that he believed Governor Coughlin "acted very wisely."

Ballantine said that he had been in "close contact during some days with phases of the banking situation existing in this state." He said that "all agencies of the Federal government touching the banking field have been giving closest attention and fullest support to these state problems. The time available proved to be too short for final solutions but further time and effort should be productive of constructive results. The governor's action gives opportunity for this."

The proclamation was issued in response to a formal request signed by John C. Hicks, president of the Michigan Bankers' Association, and Robert O. Lord, president of the Detroit Clearing House Association.

World Cooperation Urged By President At Lincoln Day Party

New York, Feb. 14 (AP).—Valedictory of President Hoover's administration—a plea for cooperation by the peoples of the world to restore prosperity—lay before the nations today.

Speaking to 1,500 party leaders and adherents at the Lincoln Day dinner of the National Republican Club, he called for "bold and courageous action" on a united world front. He urged general restoration of the gold standard as a step to rescue civilization from a threat of "depressions of depressed standards."

"I say with emphasis," he declared, "that I am not proposing this as a favor to the United States. It is the need of the whole world. The United States is so situated that it can protect itself better than almost any country on earth."

A new proposal to help stabilize the currencies of the world came from the President in a speech frequently interrupted by applause. He suggested that some part of the debt payments due the United States from foreign nations might be set aside temporarily to stabilize the currencies of the world.

Warning that the return to the gold standard is imperative, he said: "If the major nations will enter the road leading to the early re-establishment of the gold standard, then and then only can the abnormal barriers to trade, the quotas, the preferences, the discriminatory agreements and tariffs which exceed the differences in costs of production between nations be removed, uniform trade privileges among all nations be re-established and the threat of economic war averted."

On the international debts, he said: "If we are asked for sacrifices because of incapacity to pay, we should have tangible compensations in restoration of our proportion to their (foreign nations') agricultural and other imports."

The President said the nation was at the "fork of three roads." The first, which he indicated he preferred, is the highway of international cooperation, removing the obstructions to world commerce and higher prices.

The second, which he indicated may be necessary if the first road is closed, is to rely "on our high degree of national self-containment, to increase our tariffs, to create quotas and discriminations and to engage in definite methods of curtailment of production."

He said "The third road is that we inflate our currency, consequently abandon the gold standard, and with our depreciated currency attempt to enter a world economic war, with the certainty that it leads to complete destruction, both at home and abroad."

Dog Swallows Needle and Thread
Glenford, Feb. 14.—While making a business call in Gaugheries on Friday afternoon, J. H. Stoutenburg stopped at the office of his family physician to see what was best to do for his three-month-old dog, which had swallowed a needle and thread the night before. The doctor suggested that an X-ray be taken to locate the needle in the dog's body. The dog showed no signs of pain.

Ambulance Calls Here
Monday the ambulance removed Miss Eva Williams from 115 Abbe street to the Kingston Hospital, and Emma Snyder from the Kingston Hospital to 429 Wilbur avenue.

Both truck and auto were damaged. The truck is owned by Morris Miller, the lower Broadway baker, and was loaded with baked goods. John White, who was riding with Countant, escaped injury. Countant was taken to the hospital and received a dislocated shoulder.

PROCLAMATION

I hereby proclaim Wednesday, February 15th, as KINGSTON DAY.

In honor of this day, the merchants of Kingston have spared neither time nor money to offer the people of Kingston and surrounding towns the greatest co-operative sale ever to be held in this city.

Our merchants state that never have they offered the crisp, new, latest-style, high quality merchandise at the rock-bottom prices that will prevail on Wednesday, February 15th.

I have been informed that special purchases of wonderful values have been made for this great event. Shelves are filled with the latest goods. Extra sales forces have been employed. Everything is in readiness for one of the largest money-saving sales ever offered in Kingston. All stores are co-operating—uptown, midtown, downtown.

KINGSTON DAY will afford a splendid opportunity to replenish wardrobes and household stocks at prices most advantageous.

I urge the citizens of Kingston to take advantage of and support this great buying event and cordially invite our neighbors in the surrounding territory to join with us in celebrating KINGSTON DAY.

CONRAD J. HEISELMAN,
Acting Mayor.

Taxation Plans Meet Opposition

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP).—The clouds of New York state's taxation storm rolled closer about Capitol Hill today as the legislature waited for the first of the new revenue bills to fall into the hoppers.

The bills containing Governor Lehman's proposals for $84,000,000 in new revenue, or the Mastick commission's plan for collecting $98,000,000 in new and increased taxes from New Yorkers, were still being drafted.

Meanwhile a tempest of public opinion for and against the retail sales tax, income, gasoline and other proposed new or broadened taxes echoed in the senate and assembly halls.

Since Governor Lehman submitted his $216,000,000 tax budget last month, the tax proposals have been debated strenuously by merchants, teachers, editors, individual taxpayers and groups in all corners of the state. The latest assault, directed against the retail sales tax, came yesterday when a delegation from New York city department stores called on Mr. Lehman to tell him New York retailers "simply can not absorb" his proposed 3% of one per cent tax.

When the executive budget was being drafted early in the winter, Mr. Lehman, former Governor Roosevelt, now President-elect, and Budget Director Mark Graves frequently asked New Yorkers:

"If you want the state to save money, tell us where to cut."

Governor Lehman now is asking a new question:

"If you don't like my tax plan, what can you suggest?"

Grover Whalen, general manager of Wanamaker's and spokesman for the department store delegation, told the governor the merchants' stamp tax to replace the retail sales tax.

Boy Coasted Into Auto; Leg Broken

Joseph Senior, 11 years old, of 119 Moore street, was removed to the Benedictine Hospital Monday evening with a fracture of the left leg sustained when his sled coasted into an automobile driven by Henry Schantz, of 89 Henry street, on Delaware avenue. Mr. Schantz in reporting the accident stated that the boy was sleighriding on Delaware avenue and that the sled slid into the running board of his car. He stopped his car and removed the boy to the hospital.

BROADWAY THEATRE TO HAVE EMPLOYMENT AGENCY

Read's Broadway Theatre is to establish an employment agency under the direction of Bert Gildersleeve, resident manager of the theatre. The agency will be open daily at the theatre from 8:30 to 10:30 o'clock in the morning. All persons who have work of any kind to be done are requested to get in touch with the theatre. Jobless men and women are also urged to register for work. All of the details will be conducted without cost to either the employers or those seeking work.

Births at Benedictine
The following births have been reported by the Benedictine Hospital: Mr. and Mrs. William Bence, 22 Staples street, a son, Robert James, February 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Keating, 30 South Clinton avenue, a daughter, Ann Berenice, February 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Osberg, Esopus, a daughter, Esther, February 11.

Medical Examiner Says Schaaf Died From Natural Causes

New York, Feb. 14 (AP).—Dr. Charles W. Norris, chief medical examiner of the city, today said that the death of Ernie Schaaf resulted from natural causes and not from any injury received in Schaaf's bout with Primo Carnera last Friday night.

Dr. Norris, who performed an autopsy on the body, said the exact nature of the substance that was pressing on the young boxer's brain was to be determined by a microscopic examination later today.

Dr. Norris's opinion goes contrary to that of Dr. Byron Stookey, brain specialist, who performed the operation to remove a blood clot from Schaaf's brain yesterday.

In discussing the case with newspapermen following the operation, Dr. Stookey said:

"He must have been knocked out on his feet. The damage could not have resulted from anything but this match."

"There is absolutely no evidence that Schaaf died as a result of injuries received in the bout," said Dr. Norris. "Death resulted from pressure by a substance within the cranium, the nature of which will have to be determined by microscopic analysis."

Snow in Four-foot Drifts

Glenford, Feb. 14.—The snow and cold weather has surely reached this little town, but without any serious damage. The wind piled the snow in drifts as deep as four feet. The snow pile behind two of Leander Bonesteel's bay horses soon cleared the highway and the two mountain turnpikes were soon as though the storm had not reached these parts.

Hearing on Taxes

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP).—New York state taxpayers will be given a chance next Thursday to state their views on Governor Lehman's budget and its recommendations for $84,000,000 in new taxes. The Senate finance committee and the Assembly ways and means committee have decided to hold a joint public hearing at that time. It was announced today.

Our Growing Population

The following births have been reported by the Benedictine Hospital: Mr. and Mrs. Leo Doherty of 49 Levan street, a daughter, Joan Elizabeth, at Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Lee Shaw of R. F. D. No. 4, a son, Alfred Lee, at Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Kenner, of Rifton, a son, Edward Eugene, at Benedictine Hospital.

CHARITY COMMISSIONER DEAD AT ALBANY

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP).—O. W. Wheelock, commissioner of charities at Watertown, N. Y., died in Memorial Hospital today. Heart disease is believed to have been the cause of death.

Commissioner Wheelock came here yesterday to attend a conference today. He registered at the DeWitt Clinton Hotel. He was taken ill during the night and was removed to the hospital at 2 a. m. He died at 8:30.

Circus Lures Cupid To Active Service

It seems that Dan Cupid has been raising havoc with the hearts of the younger generation in Kingston as up until 6 o'clock Monday evening nine couples had submitted their applications to participate in the big jungle wedding which will take place at the Firemen's Circus, old armory, on the week of February 20. It is expected before the week is over that as many more young men will have succumbed to the wiles of some maiden and be led to the altar, whether in the den of lions at the circus or elsewhere.

Two hundred dollars reward, a score or more of useful gifts will be presented to some loving young couple, practically everything that young matron and her husband might need to start a love nest, furniture, clothing, all useful presents for the newlyweds.

There will be but one couple selected by committee appointed to handle this unique wedding ceremony, so there will still be time to make application as the final decision as to the young man and woman to be married in the den of lions will not be made until late Saturday evening.

Announcements of full circus program will be made in the columns of this paper later in the week and many people in this vicinity, who know many of the stars of the sawdust ring, will no doubt be able to find names they recognize included in the program.

The advance ticket sale is progressing favorably and the firemen's big circus arrangements have been made to accommodate 3,000 people at each performance, with regular bleachers, reserved chairs and private boxes. The executive committee has decided to throw the doors wide open on Monday afternoon matinee to the children of the different institutions of this vicinity in order that these tots and kiddies might have their fill of circus thrills and entertainment.

Joseph Babcock Killed by Auto

Joseph Babcock, 44, of Bruynswick, was run down by a car on the snow-covered highway near Wallkill on Sunday receiving injuries which resulted in his death several hours later in St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh where he was taken after being struck. Vincent Edmunds, also of Bruynswick, driver of the car, was exonerated after an investigation had been made by the authorities. The dead man is survived by his wife.

Unemployed Meeting

The executive meeting and ward committees of the Workers' Cooperative association will meet at its headquarters at 554 Broadway to night at 8 o'clock. Reports will be made by different committees heretofore appointed in regard to the development of the plan adopted at the general meeting at the city hall on Friday night. This plan contemplates the bartering and exchanging of the services of the unemployed workers for fuel, food, clothing, rental and other necessities. It is expected to develop the plan to such a magnitude that all of the unemployed will be practically self-supporting next fall and winter. It is the intention of the association to obtain the headquarters and to complete the organization so as to begin functioning by the first of next month.

Sneak Thief Was At Work Sunday

Sunday morning a sneak thief was busy in two of the local churches robbing the contents of the mission boxes in the entrances to the churches. The boxes were used by members of the congregations to drop their missionary offerings in. The sneak thief went about his work boldly and escaped without detection. It is not known just how much money he obtained as a result of his efforts. The experience of the two churches on Sunday will likely lead other churches to have the boxes in the churches watched more closely. The names of the two churches that were robbed were not made public.

St. Joseph's Card Party

The annual card party of the St. Joseph's Holy Name Society will be held in the school hall on Monday evening. The general public is invited.

All members of Temple Emanuel who have clothing of any kind for the relief are urged to leave them at the Temple on Friday.

Ulster County Leads State In Reduction Of 1933 Taxes

County Tax Budget Calls for 56 Per Cent Less Than Year Ago —County Tax Rate Saved City Tax Rate 12.16 Over Last Year—City's Reduction In Tax Rate is $5.40 With Increased Assessments in Many Cases.

KINGSTON GRANTED RIGHT TO ALTER TAX COLLECTION

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP).—The Senate today passed a bill to permit the city of Kingston to pay its state and county taxes in two instalments.

The measure was sponsored by Senator Arthur H. Wicks, of Kingston. Action on a similar bill, introduced in the Assembly by Assemblyman J. Edward Conway of Kingston, was postponed until tomorrow. The bill was accompanied by an emergency message from Governor Lehman.

Ulster county leads the state in percentage of decrease in the county budget for 1933 over 1932. Ulster county's budget for 1933 is 56 per cent less than in 1932 and the next county in line of decrease is Chautauque where the decrease for 1933 is 42 per cent. In but six counties in the state has there been an increase over 1932.

When the Ulster county board of supervisors adopted a budget of $741,178.23 for 1933 they more than cut the 1932 budget in half. In 1932 the budget was $1,707,016.41.

In six counties there was an increase and in these counties it was unemployment relief which prevented a decrease in the budget for 1933. The following counties adopted budgets for 1933 which were in excess of 1932, Chemung, Franklin, Genesee, Hamilton, Nassau, and Suffolk. Suffolk's increase was 28 per cent over 1932.

In Columbia county there was a 25 per cent decrease for 1933. Delaware county also cut 25 per cent under the 1932 budget while the decrease was but 8 per cent in Dutchess county. Greene county cut its budget 23 per cent and Orange county is 31 per cent under the 1932 budget. Rensselaer county is 13 per cent under 1932 and Sullivan county cut expenditures 23 per cent. Ulster leads the state with a 56 per cent reduction.

The Ulster county budget reduction is due to strict economy in all departments. County employees have taken a 10 per cent reduction in wages for 1933 and county officials whose salaries are fixed by statute took a voluntary cut of 10 per cent in order to aid the program of economy and relief to taxpayers. Highway work has been practically eliminated except for such appropriation as was necessary to be raised to secure the state aid.

This decrease in the county budget reflects in the city tax rate to a very considerable amount. In 1931 when the county board of supervisors adopted its budget of expenditures for 1932 the county budget added $20.24 to the city tax rate. The city tax rate in 1932 was $56.16.

This year the county's budget has added to the city tax rate but $9.06, or a saving in the city tax rate of $12.16 over last year.

The 1932 city tax rate was $56.16 and the 1933 city tax rate is $38.69, a reduction of $17.56. Of this $17.56 reduction in the Kingston city tax rate the county board of supervisors is responsible for $12.16. The city's share of the reduction in the tax rate is but $5.40 and in many instances increases in assessments have been made in the city which nullify even this reduction.

Train Hit Truck, No One Injured

About 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon one of the Babcock milk trucks, driven by Charles Ellsworth of 414 Washington avenue, was struck by a Wallkill Valley freight train on the crossing at South Clinton avenue and Greenkill avenue. Both Ellsworth and James E. McSpirt of 366 Albany avenue, assistant manager of the Babcock Dairy, who were riding in the truck, escaped injury.

Mr. McSpirt in reporting the accident to the police stated that they believed they had plenty of time to get over the crossing but the engine, which was proceeding slowly, struck the rear of the truck swinging it around and causing the truck to hit a street sign pole on the corner. The truck was not badly damaged.

YOUNG FOLKS ENJOY OLD FASHIONED SLEIGHRIDE PARTY

Ulster Park, Feb. 14.—The Girls' Club entertained the members of the Boys' Garden Club yesterday at a ski party at the home of Mabel Story. There was a 100 per cent attendance and Mr. Story surprised the young folks with an old fashioned sleighride party which was greatly enjoyed by the boys and girls. On their return to the Story home the girls served cocoa and cake after which the young people again enjoyed skiing until darkness compelled them to call a halt to the afternoon's activities. The guests of the afternoon voted the members of the Home-Making Department most excellent entertainers.

Men Held in Massie Assault Case Freed

Honolulu, Feb. 14 (AP).—The Ala Moana assault case in which five men of mixed blood were accused of criminally attacking Mrs. Thalia Massie, wife of a naval lieutenant, was closed today as far as territorial courts were concerned.

At the request of the prosecution, Circuit Judge Charles Davis yesterday ordered the discharge of the four living defendants in noting a nolle prosequi, or discontinuance, in the case. The defendants freed are Ben Akuelou, Henry Chang, Horace Ida and David Takal.

The action also cleared in the prosecution's eyes the name of a fifth defendant, Joseph Kahahawai, who was kidnapped by Mrs. Massie's mother, Mrs. Granville Fortesque, her husband, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and two enlisted naval men, and shot to death by Lieutenant Massie in Mrs. Fortesque's home.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF CANAL TURNED DOWN

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP).—A state committee turned thumbs down today on the proposal from Washington that New York turn over the Erie and Oswego divisions of its vast Barge Canal system to the federal government.

The proposal, originally made by army engineers and contained in the rivers and harbors bill approved by Congress in 1920, was largely on the ground that the transfer would prevent widening or deepening of the waterways for ship canal purposes.

A NATIONAL PROGRAM.

At a time when national plans and programs are becoming epidemic, again, this one from Stuart Chase probably deserves more serious attention than most. Analyzing the present situation, he finds three courses open to the country: violent revolution, dictatorship by his business, or a managing control by the present governmental system. Dismissing the first two for obvious reasons, the Russian way being too dangerous and our life business having proved its incompetence, he chooses the third way, submitting this program:

1. A managed currency not tied to gold, but adaptable to changing conditions.
2. A national minimum wage to maintain purchasing power.
3. Control of new investments, such as we practiced during the World War, checking the flow of capital to industries already productive enough.
4. A public works program paying its way, to take up the slack of machine-made unemployment.
5. Unemployment insurance.
6. Abolition of gambling in stocks and commodities.
7. Government control or ownership of basic industries such as mines, railroads and power plants.
8. National, regional and local planning boards for industry.

This is a large order. It is "radical," getting down to the "root" of some of our most serious problems. It is not likely to be accepted immediately, in whole or in part. In the present mood of the American people, however, after three years of suffering, waiting and wondering, such proposals are sure to have more serious consideration than they ever had before.

ELECTORS GET TOGETHER.

The members of the Electoral College are doing something unusual this year. They are going to have a meeting in Washington, D. C. Their work is done. They met in their respective state capitals on the first Monday in January, cast their ballots for President and sent the prescribed notifications to Washington. Ordinarily that would have been the last heard of them.

This year one of their members had the idea of assembling. A committee was set up to make the plans. Now they will gather in Washington for the inaugural celebration on March 4. Most of them are Democrats. The only Republicans are from six states carried by President Hoover in the November election. But party affiliations do not matter in this instance.

One cannot blame the Electors for wanting to get a little glory or publicity or fun out of their job. There is nothing much more anonymous than the brief public duties of Presidential electors. Even voters, marking their ballots, pay no attention to the names of the electors. Care must be exerted, however, that this movement does not go too far. There were 531 Electors in the last election. If they decide to organize and invite into their ranks all the Electors of the past and the future, they are going to set up quite an organization. First thing we know, they'll be demanding bonuses and disability compensation.

UNEMPLOYED MACHINES.

In the contest between technology and manual labor, there are still some factors in favor of the workman. It is found that with wages falling, some machines are now more expensive than men, and old manual processes are revived. A machine tool maker tells a society of engineers that money is lost on other machines, too, through change of style in products. With automobile models, for example, changing every four, many costly machines may be discarded before they have paid for themselves. Moreover, there is this handicap in straight production lines, that if any of the series of machines fails, all the rest are held up. Worst of all, in periods like this, the highly mechanized factory which looks most devastating in its abandonment of labor can only occasionally get an order big enough to justify operating it. Thus an automobile rolling mill, electrically controlled, which cost several million dollars and enables a dozen men to do the work of hundreds, is "waiting its head off" for lack of work, while smaller mills of the old type, in the vicinity are busy. Modern machines are not built for work, and by the same token it takes a lot of work to keep them busy. Machines throw out a lot of work, but men may also throw machines out of work.

THE WALKATHON

Just what glory there may be in a marathon is a new championship, where the movement is not dancing at all, but a slow, painful endurance contest, has never been explained. It has been generally supposed that this particular form of exhibition insanity had died out along with flagpole-sitting and peanut-pushing. It is surprising, then, to learn that a "walkathon," a word coined in Detroit nearly four months ago, and that efforts are being made to start such contests in other cities.

Detroit people are trying to stop their performance as a nuisance. Better grounds, perhaps, would be cruelty to animals. At last reports, out of 49 couples originally competing, there were four still engaged in the grind. They keep at it 24 hours a day, shuffling along in 45-minute periods with 15 minutes' rest, the dancers or walkers chained so as to keep them from lying down on the floor through sheer exhaustion and sleepiness. Yes, there ought to be a law against such insanities. Why do people support them with their patronage?

THYROID EXTRACT FOR ECZEMA.

You may be suffering with eczema and the three outstanding symptoms—itching, burning, and a sensation of heat—are making your life very miserable.

You wonder why doctors seem to have "luck" treating some cases, and no luck in others.

Your physician will tell you that at least one half of all skin ailments are eczema, and will likely tell you also that eczema is not really a skin disease but just an outward symptom of some inward trouble of the body. Some idea of the work and thought that has been spent on eczema may be gathered when a recent work in general medicine had over three hundred references to eczema—symptoms, probable causes, and treatment. For instance over fifteen years ago it was shown that "there are 74 varieties of eczema due to the kind of work of the patient. There is 'cement itch,' a 'barber's itch,' a 'washerwoman's itch,' 'woolen and cotton spinner's itch,' and many others.

Then there is the eczema due to certain foods which in turn may be really due to some defect in one or more of the glands of the body.

Thus it has been found that in a number of young girls the use of thyroid extract given under the supervision of a physician has brought about a cure. Now this doesn't mean that everybody with eczema should use thyroid extract. It does mean however that in a number of cases the thyroid gland is not making enough thyroid juice, and in these particular cases, thyroid extract should be properly be tried. How can a patient and doctor find out if any particular case of eczema is likely to be helped by thyroid extract?

Simply by having the patient undergo a metabolism test which shows whether or not the thyroid is making sufficient juice for the body's needs. If not, then thyroid extract can be given which increases the action of the body processes so that the eczema disappears. It is this slowness of the body processes that permits the thickened skin and other symptoms of eczema.

So remember all the different things that can cause eczema—foods, fur, feathers, flowers, flours, wool, cotton, all kinds of chemicals, climate, and other materials and conditions.

Remember also, that thyroid extract is of great help where the thyroid gland is not as active as it should be.

VALIANT DUST

Chapter 5
 "YES, MY COMMANDANT!"
 MECHANICALLY the assounded Otho resumed the position of attention, and then stood himself properly at ease.

"Velvetbury," with just that peculiar pronunciation and intonation of voice which made him so effective as a speaker.

Of course! The interview with the officer. The Parade-ground at Matheran. The first day that he was able to go on duty again after his fight with M'Bongu. The messenger who had hidden him from the Colonel and a strange officer—another Colonel—demanded his immediate attendance.

He remembered every incident, every word of the interview that had followed. Saluting and standing smartly at attention in that little room, a powerful man, strong-faced and iron-jawed, who sat at the table and stared at him with hard appraising eyes.

"Le Légionnaire Otho Bellemé?"
 "Otho, mon Commandant."
 "Your real name?"
 "Otho, mon Commandant."
 "You are English?"
 "Otho, mon Commandant."
 "The name is French."

"Norman. A thousand years in England."

The officer smiled.
 "Educated?"
 "Otho, mon Commandant."
 "Where?"

"At home, at Velvetbury Grammar School, and at Oxford."

"Profession?"

"The officer smiled. He had watched the defeat of M'Bongu the invincible."

"Father's profession?"
 "Gentleman."
 "The officer raised his eyebrows. 'Sir J. C. Sme, then?'
 "Sir Otho Robert Mandeville-Bellemé."

The officer reflected, as he scrutinized Otho's strong and handsome, if somewhat disfigured face. Yes, this was his man. A fool to his hand. Obviously—in view of that awful fight—as brave as a lion, strong as an ox, determined and tenacious as one of his own British bulldogs.

Well born, too, well educated; probably quite clever; and by report, amenable to discipline and of excellent character.

Character? Then what should such a man be doing in the Foreign Legion? A woman, no doubt. Or perhaps merely one of those mad romantics who live for adventure, warming their brave hearts in the glow of glamorous dreams. Yes, this man would do.

"How would you like to leave the ranks and come with me?" asked the strange Colonel suddenly.
 "Pardon, mon Commandant?" replied Otho in some bewilderment.
 "Do you speak Arabic as well as you do French and English?"

"As badly as I do French, but not as well as I do English, mon Commandant," smiled Otho.

"How would like to be seconded and come with me, study Arabic, become an Arab, in fact; until I can use you as one. How, in short, would you like to join the Secret Service, if you satisfied me during your apprenticeship, and passed my test?"

A hard and dangerous life—for a brave man; with a brave man's rewards, if he succeeds.

"I should love it, mon Commandant. Better than anything on earth. But I cannot leave my company."

"Why not?"
 "My friends. They joined the Legion because I did. I couldn't..."
 "What type of men are these, your friends? Englishmen? Educated men? Gentlemen?"

"Two of them are pugilists like myself, mon Commandant. All three were sailors."

"Not educated?"
 "No, mon Commandant."
 "Any of them naturally clever? Good at disguise... good linguists... good actors?"

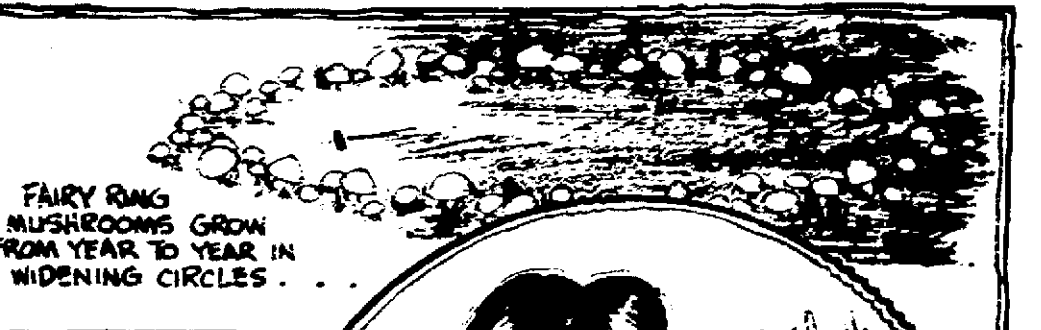

Otho shook his head.
 "No, mon Commandant. Splendid?"
 "No, mon Commandant."
 "And you would not leave them?"
 "Again Otho shook his head."

"Well, mon enfant, you are a fool. A silly fool, an Englishman, in fact."

The "Moor" and Major Riccoli have a strange encounter, tomorrow.

THE ANGORA RABBIT IS RAISED FOR ITS WOOL.

Native Jamaican fish peddlers run a daily marathon from their nets on the shore 18 miles uphill to the Mandeville market where they sell their catch. The natives have learned that the first man in the market gets the best price for his fish.

The bald eagle is not bald, it just looks bald. The top of the head is crowned with a cover of white feathers which, in contrast with the rest of the feathers, gives the eagle its bald appearance.

Fairy ring mushrooms are frequently seen growing in almost perfect circles—sometimes several feet across. Naturalists believe that a single mushroom sheds its spores about it, giving rise to a small ring. The mushrooms in this ring do likewise, making a larger circle. There are fairy rings in Colorado estimated to be 600 years old. Rabbit skins, treated in various ways, have been used as imitations of many costlier furs for years, but now experimentally at least, the rabbit is being raised to produce wool. Although a rabbit produces but a small amount at one shearing, the fur grows rapidly and has many desirable qualities.

10 BIGGEST PROBLEMS

No. 6

Molding
The Next Generation

This is the sixth article in a series in which Prof. William F. Ogburn, of the University of Chicago, discusses what he considers the 10 big problems facing America.

By WILLIAM FREDERICK OGBURN
Research Director, President's Committee on Recent Social Trends

Written for the Associated Press

The personalities that we have are largely the result of our childhood experiences.

Whether we are with parents, teachers, or friends, the personality that we have is largely the result of our childhood experiences.

These traits usually were thought to be inherited from our fathers and mothers, but they are more truly the result of the association with them and also with our playmates and other childhood associates.

Hence the importance of early training and education, for the kind and quality of people we shall have in the next generation in our nation depend on what we do with the children of today.

Dangers To Be Watched

The life of the modern child is different from what it was in early times in two respects. He grows up in cities and usually in a small family often without any brothers or sisters.

These are dangers, for the manner of city life is often not good for the temperament of children and frequently too restricted association with affectional adults or the neglect of absent parents is not a healthy influence.

But the city and the modern family may be made just as good an influence on child life as it is now frequently a bad influence. The realization of the dangers of childhood is in a sense a promise.

The first big problem in this connection is the education of parents. They are hard to reach for families are scattered, but adult education and parent-teacher associations may do much.

Problem Parents, Too

Our high school and junior colleges should of course educate for parenthood with special courses in those subjects. It is the problem parent that makes the problem child.

The schools should concern themselves more with the personalities of children, which means their group activities as well as their books. The modern progressive tendencies in education should be widely diffused throughout the public schools.

The quality of the people in the next generation depends on the training given the children of today, says Prof. William F. Ogburn. And the training of those children, especially in cities, is one of the nation's ten big problems, he says. City children forced to play in the streets, and others being given the proper play training are shown above.

The pre-school child in many families needs also the influences of modern progressive education. In many homes children should go to school at earlier ages.

Good houses are an important influence. It is now almost impossible to bring up a child satisfactorily in most city apartments, but with social planning, city apartments could be made almost ideal.

Another need is scientific research. We know that our early environment makes us what we are, within broad limits. We know that any child can be made into a poet or a scientist, but we do not yet know the particular programs.

It would be wonderful to have a world without problem children, to have our society peopled by well-adjusted adults capable of successful mating who cannot become neurotic, without narcissism and free from morbid fears.

But first we need more research and then we need it widely diffused throughout our schools and our homes.

TOMORROW: "Building a Healthy Nation." The average expectancy of life now in 38 years, as compared with 35 years in 1800, says Professor Ogburn. It should be possible to reach three score and ten, he asserts. The problem is not only to conquer cancer, malaria, social diseases, tuberculosis, influenza, kidney and heart disease, but to bring more vigorous health, he says in the next article.

Jewish Agricultural Society Year's Report

Jews show keen interest in farming—Jewish Agricultural Society reports Jewish Farmers Molding on 10,702 Farm Loans Aggregating $6,591,000 Since Establishment.

General Davidson, general manager of the Jewish Agricultural Society, has just issued the society's thirty-third annual report. This report states that probably never before has there been so keen an interest in farming by Jews as there exists today. "Jewish farmers are holding out," says Mr. Davidson. "Whether this is because of pressure or desire is at the moment immaterial. The fact that they can manage to stay is enough. The important thing is that they are able to retain their homes and their craft."

In 1909, when the Jewish Agricultural Society began to function, there were about 200 Jewish farm families in the United States. Today over 100,000 Jews are deriving their livelihood, in whole or in part, from the farm. Jewish farmers are found in every state in the Union. A study made by Mr. Davidson early in the year placed the estimated world population of Jewish farmers at 750,000.

The report gives a comprehensive account of the work of the various departments and branch offices through which the society operates. The society through its Farm Loan Department has granted up to the end of the last fiscal year 10,702 farm loans aggregating $6,591,000 to Jewish farmers in 49 states. This financial service provides Jewish farmers with a source of credit not otherwise obtainable. The society's magazine in the world. Through literature, evening courses, individual farm visits, demonstrations, meetings, tours, lectures, schools—all co-related and made to harmonize with government activity—in short in every possible means, the society helped farmers to bear up under the strain, and in instances, even to make progress during hard times.

The society's farm employment department has secured farm employment for 17,391 Jewish young men since its establishment. This service affords young Jews the opportunity of acquiring a valuable agricultural training by actual work on the farm. The records show that some bought farms of their own after a period of service.

The society's sanitation department carries on work to promote higher standards of cleanliness and to improve sanitary conditions in and about the farm home. During the past year it made 536 farm visits in the Jewish farming district of New York and Connecticut—safeguarding farm water supplies, teaching sanitary disposal methods and protecting food supplies. Through farm gatherings, public meetings, demonstrations and lectures, this department has reached thousands of rural folk.

The society has made loans for the erection of synagogues and community houses and has helped advance the social and cultural phases of rural life. Cooperative and community undertakings were also encouraged and aided.

The report also contains a tribute to Percy S. Straus, who for 20 years has served as a member of the Jewish Agricultural Society's board of directors—eight years as its president. Because of pressure of exacting duties Mr. Straus recently relinquished his post on the society's directorate but still remains one of its valued members.

"NOW CAN EAT ANY KIND OF FOOD, AND NO CONSTIPATION"

Mr. Durigan Finds Relief in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here is his enthusiastic letter:

"Am 50 years of age, and for 40 of these years there never was a week but what I had to take a pill or some kind of cathartic."

"I took everything, but gained only temporary relief. Until last spring my daughter, who is a nurse in a hospital, brought me some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN."

"At the end of the week, I knew I had something that was it, and I kept on taking it. I haven't taken a cathartic since. I can eat meat any time, as often as I like, or any other kind of food, and no constipation." Mr. L. M. Durigan, 6511 Buffalo Ave., Jacksonville, Florida.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help muscle tone. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much safer than patent medicines. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

It is human nature to give least thought to the things with which we are most familiar. Consequently people don't think about the sugar they use.

But, sugar is one essential food to which you should give most serious attention.

Sugar is made from a variety of things. It is made in many countries—made under widely different sanitary conditions.

What do you know about the SUGAR you use?

There is a way in which you can be certain that the sugar you and your family use is pure, clean, wholesome sugar.

Then you will know that the sugar you use is made from sugar cane.

Then you will know it is made under the most modern, sanitary conditions.

Then you will know that it is 100% Pure Cane Sugar. Made in the U. S. A. and guaranteed by

The National Sugar Refining Co. of N. Y.

There is a difference in sugar—Pure cane sugar, as refined in this country, has established a definite standard of quality by which America's sugar values are measured and judged.

Fashions by Eleanor Gunn

The Jig Saw Puzzle Dress

New York. Sketches continue to show new fashions. Some of these are shown in detail to be more than a passing fancy. While it is true that the jig saw puzzle dress is a matter of personal taste and an understanding of the occasion.

It is quite likely that the dress is a new idea and will be played up very strongly. There seems to be no reason why this dress cannot be turned up to themselves anywhere in the general neighborhood of the dress and this, of course, should prove interesting. Today are treated the same way. In fact the business of taking a dress apart and putting it together again has almost assumed the jig saw puzzle proportions. Such workings on do help reduce cleaner charges. White and light colored accessories are just unbuttoned and sent to the cleaners, the dress itself being left literally in pieces out at home.

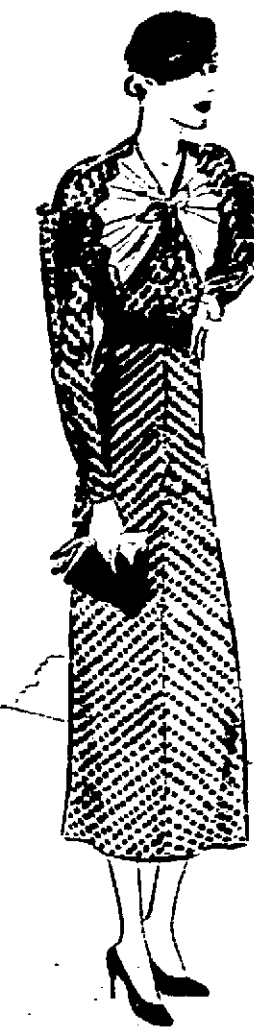

If you like crisp accessories, now is the time to indulge in organdies, piques and taffetas. They all have that perky quality which is needed at the moment. There are also starched fabrics of various kinds, also laquered ones.

Taffeta is coming into favor. There are taffeta slips with their pleasant little 1509 ruffle, and there are many other taffeta things, hats for instance. These are stitched as you probably have guessed.

Incidentally hats have gone completely revolutionary. These little "rags of skull caps" women have been wearing, are being cast aside for quite formidable looking hats, many of which are blocked and most of which have regained their lost crowns.

There is the annual excitement about flowers. Gardenias seem to be first choice, but there are other blooms of course. Wait and see what tailored effects milliners have managed to set with flowers. Not that every spring hat is to have flowers, but flowers are "in" again and that is news. If you like plaid straw you may have them. If you prefer to wear felts, there are the snap brims and the mannish fedoras.

SOMETHING NEW UP HER SLEEVE

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild.

Illustrated is a model in black and white in a diagonal striped crepe, with a crisp contrast offered in the white taffeta pleated section that suggests a fan-labot. The sleeves develop width at the upper edge—in snap brims and the mannish fedoras.

For the Bedtime Story Hour

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild.

The tailored pajama at the left, in melon color crepe, features a monogram motif. It has the wide shoulder line achieved by means of a deep yoke trimly buttoned up the center.

The gown which goes to the other extreme of softness and allure is of black indestructible voile with black chantilly type lace and net ruffles outlining the "dinner dress" puff sleeves.

AGE'S PLACE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

IT'S hard for age, when age is gray. To keep its place. The things we say

Are tiresome things, the things we do. Are foolish and old fashion, too. Now age must tell its tales no more (It may have told that tale before). Although within its words appears The ripe experience of years.

This makes it hard; were we not told. We would not know that we are old. To us the world seems just as bright. And living has the same delight. It's hard to keep our place beside The hearth, the hopes of life denied. But in the world now youth prevails And has no time for old men's tales.

It's hard to play the part of age Still strong enough to tread the stage. Youth must remind us, youth must frown.

Before the young and old sit down. We might forget how very small We are, that we are old at all. Our lips still laugh, our pulses race— It's hard for age to keep its place.

Mother's Cook Book

TRY THESE DISHES

WHAT to eat and how to prepare it is the daily problem of thousands of housewives all over the land. The books in season in one section are not always easy to find in answer, but certain staples can always be depended upon, yet are not always economical.

Apples are most always available. The apple ranks high as a beautiful fruit. The following will be found a most tasty dessert:

Tartlets.

Mix together one cupful of chopped apple, one cupful of soft brown sugar, four tablespoonfuls of flour blended with six tablespoonfuls of butter, one beaten egg yolk, one-half cupful each of milk and raisins and fold in the egg white beaten stiff. Pour into six buttered cups and steam well covered one and one-half hours. Turn out and serve with a warm custard.

Veal Heart.

Wash, trim and slice crosswise a calf's heart. Dip the slices in seasoned flour. Fry one small onion in one-fourth pound of sliced bacon fat. Remove, brown on both sides. Arrange in a casserole, pour over hot stock, add one-half chopped pimiento and green pepper, salt, pepper and a bit of bay leaf. Thicken slightly and pour over the meat. Cook slowly, closely covered two hours. Serve with the bacon and tart jelly.

Eggs in Jelly.

Scald and peel the feet from two chicken, cook in three pints of water with one onion, one carrot, one stalk of celery, all cut into bits. Simmer for several hours, strain and cook down to three cupfuls of liquid. Season well, add one-half tablespoonful of gelatin, softened in a tablespoonful of cold water, to the hot broth. Cut four hard cooked eggs lengthwise. Arrange the eggs in a mold with rings of stuffed olives, bits of breast of chicken and pour chicken broth over all. Chill. Turn out and garnish with chopped parsley and pimiento. If the chicken feet are not used double the gelatin.

Stag Dinner Plans Will Be Discussed

Plans for the annual stag dinner of the Ulster County American Legion will be discussed fully at two meetings here this week. The county Legion will hold its monthly meeting at the Kingston Post rooms Wednesday night, and on the following night the local veterans will hold their regular session. Kingston Post meeting has been advanced in order not to conflict with the charity ball of the Knights of Columbus Friday night at the new armory.

With acceptance already received from "Black" Bennett, former department commander and now Attorney General of New York State, Dr. Lawrence, present state commander, Supreme Court Justice F. Walter Bliss, Sam Aronowitz of Albany, and a number of other prominent Legion officials, indications are that the dinner, which will be held at Golden Rule Inn on February 18, will be every bit as successful as those held in previous years. And that these dinners were successful can be attested by any Legion member who had the good fortune to be present. While veterans' affairs naturally come in for a good share of attention, the social side is not forgotten, and with abundant eats and first-class entertainment, the former service men and their guests regale for some time the memory of their annual dinners.

Various stores throughout the city are handling the tickets for the event, and they may also be obtained at the Legion post rooms. Veterans who wish to attend are reminded that tickets are always a premium as the date draws near, and there positively will be no admittance without the pasteboards.

Battered Barber

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

BATTERED didn't begin to express the havoc wrought in Barber's big frame, when they carried him off the football field and swiftly to the nearest hospital.

After they had finished with "him"—the nurse and surgeons—Barber looked out from his multitudinous bandages with mournful eyes and sensed the truth.

"No more football—for me?" he murmured a smile. "You've been over-generous with your bandages, haven't you?" he queried.

"Not more than you needed, my lad," said one kindly surgeon. "Aside from a seriously smashed knee, you have a twisted wrist, a dislocated collar bone and a slightly cracked nose bridge."

"But apart from that I'm quite all right," Barber's twisted smile hurt the tender hearts of those nurses who had helped the surgeons patch up the battered player. "Suppose I'll have to take to addressing envelopes for a career."

"Or writing poetry," suggested the surgeon. "It's certain you'll never play football again and—the country's going to miss you, my boy."

The nurses turned away. Barber's fine mouth, despite the effort he made, was quivering. A football hero he was and now he lay physically shattered and rudely sundered from all that made life interesting.

There was one, however, who looked upon Barber's plight with eyes that had a glint of triumph in them. She, the girl whom Barber wanted to marry, had persistently refused to marry a professional football player. Perhaps, now that football as a profession had been snatched from him, he would listen to reason and take up some business which would mean a regular salary and some kind of definite future assured.

Marcella never quite knew whether it was a touch of snobbishness on her part or whether she dreaded merely being the wife of the famous Robert Barber.

"At any rate," she had often said to Barber, "I would much prefer to love a man who made his living by means of his brain power instead of by his athletic accomplishments."

"You don't love me, Marcella, or you wouldn't mind my profession being what it is—it is perfectly honorable."

So in the hospital Barber lay, there thinking over all that Marcella had said and realizing that she certainly had a right to her views. Certainly athletes could not be called interesting as a whole.

And as week upon week went by and Barber still lay in the hospital the time began to hang heavily upon him. Tired of reading, bored with crossword puzzles, quite fed up with his own inner resources Barber fell a prey to depression.

It was his little red-haired nurse whom he nicknamed Crimson Rambler because of her hair and her natural tendency to ramble happily all over the place in search of amusement for her patients, who brought him some modeling wax.

"It's what children love to play with on a rainy day. Now you just start right in and try to model me or that bed post—whichever interests you most."

Barber laughed and pressed the soft clay with fingers now sensitive to suffering and strangely unlike his own strong hands. As a matter of fact, Barber had always had a secret longing to model things but had crushed down the feeling lest he be considered a first-class nut.

And so, in another week's time, there was a most amusing array of tiny figures standing upright on his bedside stand. Nurses short and nurses tall—nurses smiling and nurses glum—and a generous sprinkling of white-robed surgeons and a middle or two all joined in that curious group of small images.

But above all Barber's eyes had taken on a new interest in things about him. The depression was gradually giving way to something akin to hidden fires bursting outwardly into flame.

And that career of art, started in so curious a way, was to carry Barber to the very heights, for the little figures standing so bravely there in the hospital, held that in their workmanship which only the master hand can contribute.

Marcella felt her heart beat triumphantly, for surely now she would say yes to the question which Barber had so many times asked.

It was through the Crimson Rambler that the dragging forth of a sculptor-to-be took place, for in her ramblings about she came across one who was well in a position to express a verdict on those little nurses, surgeons and children.

And when they were carried carefully away to the great one's studio for inspection, a tear squeezed through the dark brown lashes of Crimson Rambler.

Barber saw it and his heart gave a great bound.

"Darling," he cried swiftly and seized the white hand hanging limply beside his bed. "Would you have loved me if I had still been a football player?"

"I would love you if you were the ash man," Crimson Rambler admitted.

LEGION AUXILIARY TO MEET ON THURSDAY

The regular monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary of Kingston Post, No. 154, will be held Thursday evening, February 16. The meeting will be held at the regular time of Friday, February 17, at 8 o'clock in the Knights of Columbus Charity Hall, which is being used on that night.

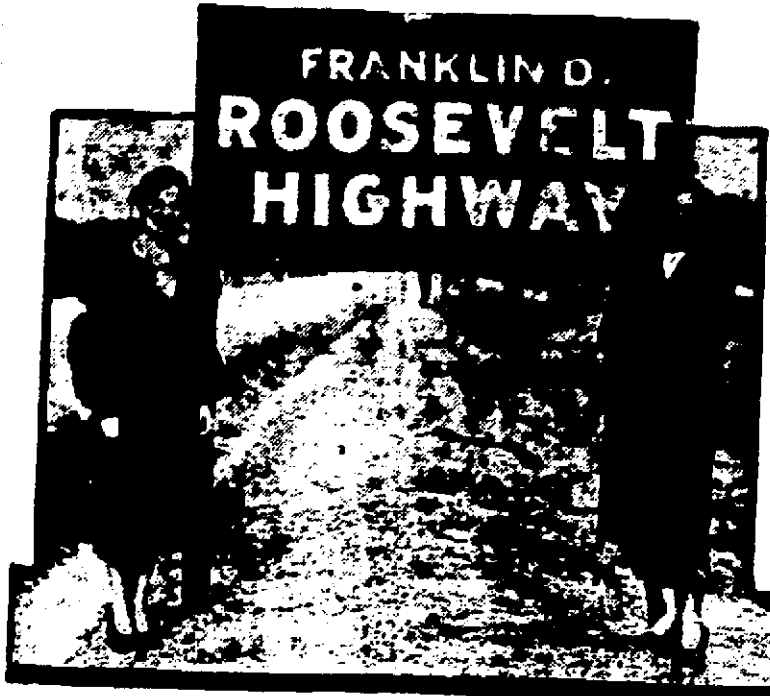

Those attending the meeting are also reminded of the coupons for the American Legion Veterans Mountain Camp, which may be given to the chairman, Mrs. Waterman, at this time.

There is some very important business to come before the meeting. Members are requested to bring the canned goods or some article of food for the use of the welfare chairman. These monthly donations of food brought by the members on meeting nights have assisted greatly in the distribution of food to welfare cases.

TRICKS of MAGIC EXPLAINED by Will Lindhorst

HOW TO BALANCE TWO CHIPS ON EDGE OF GLASS WITH ONE HAND

Stand a glass on a table, lay two poker chips beside it, and ask your audience if anyone present can balance both chips on the edge of the glass using but the thumb and index finger of one hand. This trick is done as shown above. Stand the chips against and on opposite sides of the glass. Then with the thumb and index finger of either hand press the chips against the glass and slowly push them up the sides to the top. When you have them near the top, it will require a little care in moving them into position so they will balance on the edge.

First Packing Company,
Kingston, N. Y.

Gentlemen:

It is regrettable that in your case, the aim of our letter in the Freeman of Friday last went so wide of the mark. Also, we resent your effort to capitalize our disinterested plea for mutual co-operation in our city. No intention was held to advertise our own or any one else's products.

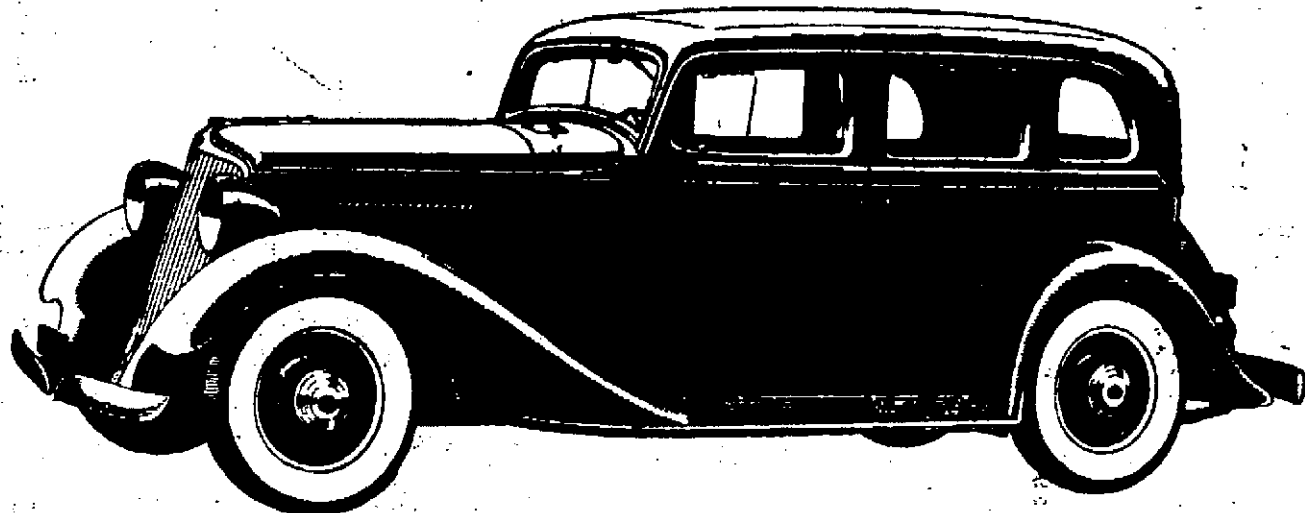

No unworkable plan was offered. We proposed that we buy at home so that we may work at home. An idea so simple that it does not admit of discussion. Please be assured that, if you receive some extra business from Kingston folks because your fine, modern plant is a Kingston industry, it will not harm you. Be reminded that the patent office may prohibit more than one Formost brand. Still it has been our fortune to eat much better ham, cured primitively in an old-fashioned country smoke house.

It is admitted that our business is not opulent enough, nor our banking relations liberal enough to send it to Miami for the winter and Nova Scotia for the summer, as you claim to do in your ad of Saturday. Neither do we feel free to assert our financial independence of our townspeople.

Possibly, you do not believe that any business house in these times can be other than mercenary, but, asking your pardon if it offends, we maintain that we hold the welfare of our city above our thought of personal gain.

Yours truly,

F. B. MATTHEWS & CO., Inc.

The One Truly Modern Car

Style Graham—the style sensation of 1932—is still a year ahead of imitation, with new beauty, new style features both inside and out and a wealth of advancements in quality and comfort that raise Graham values to a new peak.

Power A new and delightful feeling of "hair-trigger" performance—along with better idling, quicker starting, better cooling and increased valve life—the results of Graham's new and exclusive "Vitalized Power."

Economy Finer performance with considerably reduced fuel consumption—use of higher priced "premium" gasolines entirely unnecessary—greater oil mileage—and a new all-time low for repair costs of all kinds.

Safety No other car can give you so complete an assurance of safety, because none is engineered to hold the road so well, to take turns without sideway, to steer so easily, to stop so smoothly and surely—all the results of exclusive features of Graham's advanced design.

Let us show you how Graham's many exclusive features—such as Deep Bonjo Frame, Outboard Springs with Wide Wheel Tread, Graham-Built Bodies, Graham-Built Hydraulic Brakes, Vitalized Power—give you so much more in Style, Power, Economy, Safety—and VALUE.

It's fun to be fooled — ...it's more fun to KNOW

Like to see through tricks? Then let's look at another... the illusion in cigarette advertising called "Cigarettes and Your Throat."

The audience is told that by certain magic processes tobacco can be made as soothing as cough medicine.

EXPLANATION: The easiest cigarette on your throat is the cigarette that is made from the choicest ripe tobaccos. Cheap, raw tobaccos are, as you would naturally expect, harsh in their effects upon the throat.

If you have to consider your throat, the quality of the tobacco in your cigarette is important.

 It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Camels are as non-irritating as a cigarette can be because Camels use choice, ripe, tobaccos.

And because of the matchless blending of these costlier tobaccos Camels have a rich bouquet and aroma... a cool, delicious flavor.

Keep the air-tight, welded Humidor Pack on your Camels ... to assure yourself and your companions a fresh, cool smoke.

NO TRICKS

HILY DEPUTATION TEAMS CONDUCT SERVICES AT HUTLEY

Hutley, Feb. 14—The Christian Endeavor Sunday service was conducted by a few members of the Hily boys' and girls' deputation teams of Kingston. Francis Phillips had charge of the service. The meeting opened with singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." The scripture was read by Miss Florence Shepley. Francis Phillips told what the Hily was and of its work. Mr. Phillips then rendered a solo accompanied at the piano by Miss Ruth Flicker. Prayer was led by Henry Flicker. A few remarks were given by the pastor of the church, after which the offering was taken. The orchestra composed of Ruth Flicker at the piano and S. Coutant, D. Clark and D. Malnes playing violins, rendered several selections. The first speaker was Henry Flicker, who spoke on "Faith" and the second one was Harry Gumaer, who spoke on "Christianity in the Future." The Rev. C. C. Chilton pronounced the benediction. Everyone present enjoyed and appreciated the meeting and the young people presented and it is hoped that they will again hold a service in the Hutley Church.

Struggle's On—It's Income Tax Paying Time

Lower Exemptions This Year Increase Number Of Persons Filing Returns

Washington (AP).—The phalanx of the nation's most well-to-do—the income taxpayers—are marching by the government's coffers these days in the last fiscal year, ending June 30, 1932, they paid $1,057,000,000, compared with more than twice that amount in 1929. For the present fiscal year ending June 30, 1933, government estimates put receipts at $1,600,000,000.

Exemptions have been lowered this year to bolster the falling receipts. In 1932, single persons had an exemption of $1,500, and married persons, an exemption of $3,500. These have been reduced to $1,000 and $2,500 respectively.

Returns To Be Increased

These rates probably will add two to three million persons to the total number filing returns, but may not materially raise the number paying taxes or the amount of the taxes. Income taxes, both corporation and individual, have declined considerably.

If you fall in any of the three following classes you must file a return, although exemptions and deductions may save you from paying a tax:

- 1.—All single persons having a net income of $1,000 or more.
 - 2.—All married persons having a net income of $2,500 or more.
 - 3.—All persons and businesses having a gross income of $5,000 or more, regardless of net income.
- Net income is income after deduction of expenses necessary for running a business, such as cost of goods, salaries paid out, office expenses and so on. Gross income is income before these expenses. Wage and salary receivers generally have no such expenses so that the salary or wage is net income.
- A traveling man, however, who paid his own expenses and was not reimbursed for them by his company might deduct them from his salary to calculate his net income.

Things To Remember About Filing Returns

Washington (AP).—Here are some points to keep in mind when making out your income tax return:

Returns must be mailed so as to reach Collector of Internal Revenue in taxpayer's district on or before March 15, 1933.

Late returns may be fined 25 per cent.

Checks or money order should be made payable to "Collector of Internal Revenue at Albany, New York."

Cash payments should be made in person at collector's office.

Fraud may be punished by five years in prison and $10,000 in fines.

Salaries, wages or other income of taxable size are required by law to be reported to the government by persons or businesses paying such incomes.

Many Claiming Exemptions

Never before, tax officials say, has the public been so anxious to take advantage of every possible exemption. Looking for deductions that would have been passed over hurriedly not so long ago as inconsequential.

For the purpose of indicating possible exemptions and deductions, consider for example, a single man receiving a net income of $1,500 and a married man receiving $3,000. Each would first take his personal exemption of $1,000 and $2,500 respectively, leaving a taxable net income in each case of $500.

A single person may also be the head of family and be entitled to the same $2,500 exemption which the married person received. A bachelor supporting his mother in his own home or other dependents would be the head of a family. He may further claim $400 additional exemption for such dependents.

Exempt $400 For Dependent

Likewise the married man may deduct $400 for each of his dependents. Suppose, however, that neither of the income receivers in this example had dependents. They would then have a taxable income of $500. This may be reduced by other deductions.

The taxpayer, for example, gives to his church perhaps a dollar a week, or a deduction of about $50 leaving $450 taxable income. Other deductions include amusement taxes, electric power taxes, in fact all such federal taxes which are paid by the consumer and not by the manufacturer.

Cigarette taxes are not deductible. Fire and theft losses not covered by insurance are deductible. State income taxes and other taxes paid directly to a state or its political subdivisions are deductible.

Interest paid out, bad debts, stock losses on stocks held two years, and automobile license fees are other deductible items. The aggregate of these may reach another $50 or $100, or more if there are some especially large items.

4 Per Cent On First $4,000

Suppose they total $50, thus reducing the taxable income to $400. The taxpayer would then owe $16 or 4 per cent of $400.

The tax rate is 4 per cent on the first $4,000 of the finally ascertained taxable income. A single man who had a net income of $5,000 and no deductions beyond his personal exemption of $1,000 would pay $160 or 4 per cent of $4,000.

A married man with a net income of $6,500 would pay the same tax. For amounts beyond this, the tax rate is 8 per cent.

In addition, if the net income is over $5,000 there are graduated surtaxes running up to 55 per cent.

Tips on CONTRACT

POWERBOARDS COLLAPSE
By TOM O'NEIL

Hands warring opening forcing bids of two in a suit must be developed by correct subsequent bidding and often by excellent play to reap the proper reward in points.

William J. Huske, veteran master, sat opposite six quick tricks dealt by his partner to himself in the following hand:

NORTH
S-6 4 2
H-7 5
D-Q J 10 5 4
C-J 8 5

WEST DEALER
S-J
H-A K 2
D-A K 3
C-A K S 7 4 4

HUSKE EAST
S-A 9 5 3
H-10 3 4 2
D-9 7
C-Q 10 3

SOUTH
S-K Q 10 5 7
H-Q J 8 6
D-8 6 2
C-9

West opened the auction with two clubs. North and south kept silent. Huske's first response was two no trump, the best answer. His hand was not quite a bust, but it was well not to offer encouragement. West rebid the clubs and Huske assisted them to four. Then west offered five no trump, indicating possession of three aces and the king of clubs. Huske replied with six no trump, from which the only conclusion was that he had the ace of spades. He really wanted to play six no trump, not being enthusiastic about his distribution. West replied with seven clubs.

North opened with the diamond queen, which was taken in the west hand with the king. If the four adverse trumps were not all held in the north hand, a squeeze seemed to be the only way to make the contract, unless one hand should hold the doubleton queen-king in hearts, which seemed improbable.

West drew one round of trumps, played the diamond ace, ruffed a diamond, then played out all the clubs, discarding three spades and one heart from dummy. His idea was that the opposition would be squeezed in hearts, so that the ten of hearts would make. South shed all her spades and made a heart trick at the end.

"That's not the way to squeeze," remarked Huske. "There was a perfect squeeze on the south hand. Leave two spades and two hearts in dummy as trumps are being run and south is helpless."

Under such a plan the holdings after eight tricks had been played would be:

NORTH
S-6 4 2
H-7 5
D-Q J 10 5 4
C-J 8 5

WEST
S-J
H-A K 2
D-A K 3
C-A K S 7 4 4

HUSKE EAST
S-A 9 5 3
H-10 3 4 2
D-9 7
C-Q 10 3

SOUTH
S-K Q 10 5 7
H-Q J 8 6
D-8 6 2
C-9

The play of the club six would force south to discard so that dummy would make the spade nine of the declarer would take a trick with the deuce of hearts.

Ellsworth Charles contributes the following "hard luck" hand:

NORTH
S-K Q 10 5 1
H-7 5 4 2
D-None
C-S 6 4 2

WEST
S-3 7 5
H-J 10 8 6
D-2
C-A K J 7 5

EAST
S-8 4 2
H-Q 9
D-J 10 8 6 5
C-Q 10 3

CHARLES SOUTH DEALER
S-A J
H-A K 3
D-A K Q 9 7 4 3
C-9

Charles opened with a bid of two diamonds. North called two spades. Fearing his partner's timidity, Charles immediately leaped to six clubs and two diamond tricks. A slam contract in spades cannot be defeated. South thought that if north had a biddable suit a diamond slam could not lose.

Of course the adverse diamonds were bunched abnormally, but south should have given north a better chance. Over the two spades south very properly should have rebid his diamonds and north then should have conveyed the lack of a fit in diamonds by naming no trump.

Girl Scout Leader Lauds Boy Scouts

Agnes F. Ross, commissioner for the Ulster County Council Girl Scouts, has sent the following message to the Boy Scouts of Ulster-Greene Council, on the occasion of the 23d anniversary of the organization of scouting in the United States:

"On behalf of the Girl Scouts of Ulster county I wish to extend to you our heartiest congratulations on this, your twenty-third anniversary. Never has there been a greater need for leaders, men to show the world the way to peace and prosperity, and certainly the Boy Scout program gives such training. May you carry on with even greater success in the future."

MISSIONARY SOCIETY HOLDS ANNIVERSARY SUPPER

Bloomington, Feb. 14.—The Ladies' Missionary Society held an anniversary supper on Thursday evening, February 9. It was forty years ago this coming October that the society was organized with 12 members. Of these charter members only one is living, Mrs. Lorenzo Connors, residing at 48 Gage street, Kingston. It is also the fiftieth anniversary of the Women's Board of Domestic Missions of the Reformed Church in America. Dr. Cantine of Stone Ridge, a retired missionary from Arabia, gave a very realistic impersonation of an Arab in his home. All enjoyed it very much. The tables presented a very beautiful appearance. This was due to the artistic taste of Mrs. John Bordenstine and Mrs. Robert Taylor and the kindness of Mr. Burgevin, who gave the flowers. These were afterward sent to the sick and shut-ins. The supper committee composed of Mrs. Cornelius Hotaling, Mrs. Edwin LeFever and Mrs. Ransom Krom prepared a very appetizing and bountiful menu. The Girls' League served in their usual efficient manner. The Missionary Society through the president, Mrs. Charles Rodford, thanked all those who helped in any way to make the evening a success. The birthday offering will go for the support of the Classical Missionary, Mrs. Hubert Kipper, Ota, Japan.

FARMER BROWN'S BOY DUGS A PIT

IT HAPPENED in the middle of the summer that Farmer Brown's Boy one day took his shovel and down in the corner of the garden started to dig. It was in a corner where nothing was planted, because right in that particular place the soil was so sandy that nothing would grow while it lay there. So it was a good place to make the pit which Farmer Brown's Boy had made up his mind to dig. A pit, you know, is a hole straight down in the ground. And this was a good place for a pit because it was out of the way, a place of no use for any other purpose, and at the same time was right where the pit could be of the most service. You see Farmer Brown's Boy was going to dig that pit for a purpose. It was to be what Farmer Brown calls a compost pit. You all know that the little plants draw their food from the earth. If the earth has no food in it plants cannot grow, any more than we can grow without eating. The food which the plants need, and which their roots take from the earth, is largely composed of very fine particles of vegetable matter which has rotted away. It is this which gives color to soil and makes it black and what Farmer Brown would call rich. When you find pure sand there is none of this matter mixed with it, and that is why plants cannot grow.

First He Marked Off a Big Circle and Then He Dug and Dug and Dug.

Now in this pit which Farmer Brown's Boy had started out to dig he meant to help Old Mother Nature make a lot of this food for the plants. He might use next spring to make his plants of his garden grow. In fact, when it was finished he would have time to throw the fallen leaves which he had raked up, and old socks and some dressing from the barnyard, all sorts of things that would rot and so make food for the plants. Such a pile rotted away is called compost, and this was to be a compost pit. You see Farmer Brown's Boy believes in being prepared and he was already making plans for next year, when he meant to have the finest garden anywhere around.

So as he dug that pit he whistled. He says it is always easier to work if you whistle at the same time. First he marked off a big circle, and then he dug and dug and dug, throwing out the sand in a pile on one side. By and by that hole was so deep that only Farmer Brown's Boy's head appeared above the ground. Still he kept on working, and at last only the very top of his head could be seen. That pit was now so deep that it was hard work to throw the sand out.

"I guess it is deep enough," said Farmer Brown's Boy, stopping to rest. "I'll make the sides nice and straight and smooth and then I guess it will do."

So after a while he smoothed the sides with his shovel, and when he had finished he had a pit with sides perfectly straight up and down, and almost six feet deep. In fact it was so deep that he had to rest his shovel against the smooth wall and climb up on that in order to get out.

"If anybody tumbles in there they won't get out in a hurry," said he as he looked down into it. "They would need wings to get out. It is too deep to jump out of, and they couldn't climb those steep sandy walls. I guess I'll have to keep an eye on this to see that no one gets caught in it."

Of course he meant his little friends of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest. You see he knew that many of them often visited his garden, and it might be that, not knowing that the pit was there, one of them would carelessly tumble in. With his shovel over one shoulder and whistling merrily, he tramped home. When he had gone the garden was just as before save that down in that far corner was the great pit he had dug. But of this none of the little people saw. Sammy Jay knew. Sammy had watched Farmer Brown's Boy dig it. But Sammy said nothing about it. He was puzzled, and in his shrewd way he kept thinking and thinking the matter over and trying to decide what it could be for. At last, because he could think of no other use for it, he made up his mind that it must be a kind of trap. And yet he didn't like to think this, for he had come to think a great deal of Farmer Brown's Boy, and to look on him as a friend. So he made up his mind to keep his tongue still and wait and watch. Time would tell.

Repairing Bad Break in Sewer

Workmen of the board of public works are still busy repairing a bad break in the Broadway sanitary sewer on lower Broadway. From Rogers street down to where the sewer empties into the Rondout creek the sewer is of brick construction. The other day the roadbed caved in just below Abel street and when it was dug up to make repairs it was found that part of the brick sewer had caved in.

Since then men have been at work making repairs to the sewer. Two new pieces of concrete sewer are being placed where the old sewer caved in.

While the work of rebuilding the sewer is underway that side of Broadway is closed to traffic.

Ernie Schaaf Dies Following Operation

New York, Feb. 14 (AP).—Ernie Schaaf, 35-year-old heavyweight boxer who fell under the bruising blows of the giant Primo Carnera at Madison Square Garden Friday night while a great crowd cried "Take it easy," died today from the beating he took.

Death came at 4:10 this morning, due to intra-cranial hemorrhage ascribed to the thirteen rounds of punishment before he fell to the canvas.

At midnight a priest was called to administer the last rites of the Catholic Church. With Schaaf when he died was his mother, Mrs. Lucy Schaaf, and his manager and friend, Johnny Burke.

Jimmy Johnston, matchmaker at Madison Square Garden, said when told of Schaaf's death: "It is the most terrible thing that ever happened in boxing."

Schaaf's death paralleled in many respects that of Frankie Jerome, bantamweight, in January, 1921. Jerome was knocked out in the twelfth round of a match with Ben Taylor, Terre Haute boxer, and died two days later after an operation similar to that which Schaaf underwent yesterday.

Three hours were required for the operation on Schaaf. It was performed, a bulletin by the doctors said, "to relieve intra-cranial pressure."

The bulletin added: "The patient stood the operation well and afterwards moved his left arm, which had been paralyzed. The patient's condition, however, is still critical."

Began Career Early
The call of the prize ring which lured him to his death, was first heard by Ernie Schaaf early in his childhood at Elizabeth, N. J., where the blond viking became the first born of the seven children of Ernest and Lucy Schaaf on September 27, 1900.

Almost as soon as he was old enough to talk, this latest victim of the boxing arena, was inoculated with the fighting germ. Elizabeth, during Schaaf's early years, was in a frenzy over the prowess of two other sons, Micky Walker and George Ward, and their success inspired most of the youngsters of that city.

Large, even at birth, when he weighed almost 12 pounds, Schaaf was better able to emulate these Elizabeth heroes than any of his playmates and so eager was he to do so that he quit school at the age of 13, which was 10 years ago, and obtained employment in a factory near his home.

This sort of toil, however, became tiresome to Schaaf and when he was 15 quit and sought out a Navy recruiting officer. His large and muscular frame, plus his rather matured face with its strong aggressive chin, substantiated Ernie's false claims that he was inside the Navy's age limit and he was signed on.

Schaaf was assigned to the U. S. Navy, then stationed at the Boston Navy Yard, and even before the white braid on his first uniform became soiled, he had started his fighting career.

Meets Jack Sharkey
The Denver, at the time, had a boxing idol known then as "Battling Ski," but now as Jack Sharkey, heavyweight champion and co-manager of Schaaf. The recruit lost no time participating in the Denver's boxing activities and his size alone was enough to bring about a bout with "Ski" during which the 15-year-old youngster was soundly thrashed by his more experienced shipmate. Shortly after that incident "Battling Ski" made his professional debut in Boston as Jack Sharkey, and obtained his release from the Navy.

"You've got plenty of courage," "Ski" told Schaaf after their bout, "but you need more experience." Schaaf soon overcame that shortcoming. One of the chief petty officers on the Denver was Phil Schlossberg, the old time heavyweight. The latter took an interest in Schaaf, taught him all the tricks of the game and started him on his fighting career.

With Schlossberg guiding him, Schaaf won the 175-pound title in the metropolitan championships in

Model for Trophy
Schaaf was such a perfect specimen of pugilistic prowess that he served as the model for the trophy that Gene Tunney bequeathed to the boxing game when he retired as heavyweight champion.

In and out of the ring Schaaf was an amiable and friendly boy. His handsome appearance, his naive simplicity of speech and a certain modesty of temperament made him one of the sport's most popular performers.

Recently, as a matter of convenience, he set up living quarters handy to the gymnasium where he trained but when rumors that he was living a roistering life reached him, he confounded his critics by moving back to the Wrentham home he purchased for his mother and commuted daily to his Boston training quarters.

Fit Weakened Him
Several weeks ago Schaaf was seized with influenza while training for the Carnera bout. He was confined to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Boston for several days and was in a weakened condition when he was released. He stubbornly refused to have this match called off or postponed, and the dauntless spirit that brought him to his spectacular heights in the end led him to his death.

"Too Game" His Fault
Probably the friend that knew Schaaf better than any of the others was his old shipmate, Schlossberg, who once said of him:

"Schaaf only has one fault as a boxer. He is too game, he takes too many unnecessary punches. He is too confident that nobody can hurt him."

But someone did. And now he's dead.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Baseball is suffering from no fundamental ills, at least so far as the major leagues are concerned.

Because attendance fell off sharply in 1932 and only two of the sixteen American and National League clubs made money is no more to be taken as an indication that the pastime is slipping than is the plight of most golf clubs to be accepted as a basic ailment in the royal and ancient sport.

The truth is that the major leagues are beset by (1) top heavy American League races, with three eastern clubs much too strong for the rest of the circuit; (2) the coral-lary lop-sidedness of the world series, which has witnessed a real scrap only once in the past six years; (3) the lack of enterprise by willing but inexperienced club executives; and (4) lack of Sunday ball in Pennsylvania.

Still Cheap Amusement.
It is doubtful a reduction in admission prices would bring a rush of customers to the turnstiles again.

Major league baseball is and has been one of the cheapest of all our national sporting amusements. Prices of admission did not shift with the boom time, although the salaries of players and all other expenses of the clubs soared rapidly in the Ruthless Era.

It still is possible to get as good a seat as any fan desires for one dollar. The bleacher price is fifty cents in most parks. The Yankee Stadium bleacher capacity was increased to 22,000 several years ago as an encouragement to the proletariat.

Out of a one dollar admission the home club generally can figure on getting 62 cents. The visiting team gets 25 or 30 cents per admission, respectively, in the National and American leagues. The league gets a small percentage.

Boxing considers itself philanthropic price of tickets to $3.30 for non-thropic in New York by cutting the championship bouts. College football still considers $4.40 fair enough for its major attractions, with a seat behind the goal-posts at $1.45 for ordinary offerings. The professional hockey scale in the big league has a $2.20 "top."

Considering these comparisons the baseball fan hasn't much of a squawk coming, particularly as major league ball clubs have bigger and more costly organizations to operate.

You can figure what the rest of the clubs are up against when it is known that the Yankees, world champions, in 1932 returned a profit of $50,000, exactly one per cent, on their aggregate investment in the business of $6,000,000.

Of course Col. Jacob Ruppert would probably be just as happy if he barely broke even on the year. The colonel would rather win and lose money than lose and make money, but his associates are not quite so beautifully situated.

This is not the case with the Bayuk Philadelphia Perfecto. Millions were sold during the past few months at 10 cents. Millions could be sold this year—and next year—at 10 cents.

They said it couldn't be done
When Bayuk decided to lead the way and be the first manufacturer to reduce the price of a leading cigar from 10 cents to 5 cents, tobacco experts said it could not be done. We tell you it has been done—and done without sacrificing one particle of the quality of tobacco or workmanship that made it America's largest-selling 10-cent brand.

We pledge the millions of smokers who know and enjoy the Bayuk Philadelphia Perfecto—(Some call them "Philadelphia Hand-made")—that they will find in this famous cigar—at 5 cents—the same enjoyment and satisfaction as before.

Breathes there a football fan who isn't familiar with the feats of Coach Bob Neyland's Tennessee football eleven? Probably not. But how many know Major Robert R. Neyland, brilliant engineer of the U. S. Army? Few men have been so successful in two such divergent occupations.

The Friendly Word

A Homey in London was being shown the sights and was given lunch and dinner at the best hotels.

To his friend he said: "This is all very well, but what I want is something more homey—homey surroundings, simple food, and the friendly word."

He was taken to a quiet place in Kensington for high tea with egg and bacon.

"This is exactly what I want," he said to the waitress: "homey surroundings, simple food, but what about the friendly word?"

The waitress whispered in his ear: "Don't eat the egg!"—THE SUN.

Chimney Swifts' Habits

Sometimes in the early spring, but more commonly in late summer, large flocks of chimney swifts have been observed to sweep in great circles about a favorite chimney, then form a conical cloud resembling a cyclone funnel and drop rapidly from the apex into the chimney to roost for the night.

Chimneys of abandoned factories or public buildings constitute favorite resorts of this kind.

Swan on War Path

An indignant swan held up traffic on Avenue Road, Berlin. It had been chased by a curious dog and finally found itself on the train track.

It showed its resentment of attack as well as motor cars, by trampling the vehicles, its wings flapping threateningly, and at one time three cars were stopped while it perched at their radiators. It was finally induced to return to its pond.

Pocahontas' Remains Not Found
Unsuccessful search was made for the remains of the Indian Princess Pocahontas, who died about three hundred years ago. She married John Rolfe, one of the early settlers in Virginia, and lived for many years in England. Her burial place is unknown, but it was recently supposed that the remains, in a silver casket, lay on a shelf in the crypt of the church of St. John the Evangelist, Waterloo Road, London. This was found to be untrue.

MISS GARRITY MEADS ALLAMEN P. O. LISTINGS.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—(By Universal Press)—Miss Lucille M. Garrity stands first on the list of eligible contestants for the postmastership at Allamen, with a rating of 85 percent.

This was announced today by the United States Civil Service Commission following the usual examination of applicants for the Allamen office.

Second on the list was Oscar P. Latta, with a percentage of 78.4. Miss Garrity's father also passed the examination but in view of the fact that she ranked first on the list his application was set aside. It is the custom of the commission to consider only one applicant from the same family.

Allamen is a fourth class office and the compensation of the postmaster consists of a percentage of the receipts of the office from the sale of stamps, money orders, etc. Such postmasterships are filled by the Postmaster General and so confirmation by the Senate is required as in the case of first, second and third class postmasterships which are filled by the President and must be approved by the Senate. First, second and third class postmasterships also draw regular salaries.

The Civil Service Commission has notified Postmaster General Brown of the results of the Allamen examination and it is assumed that Miss Garrity will be named by Brown.

The last formally named occupant of the Allamen postmastership was Miss Isabelle B. Olmstead.

INAUGURAL TO SEE TRADITIONAL POMP

Official Ball, Dropped by Wilson, Is Revived.

Washington.—Traditions as old as the nation itself will be revived for the inaugural of Franklin D. Roosevelt on Saturday, March 4.

Thomas Jefferson, the third President, and the first to be inaugurated in Washington, set the original note of simplicity for the ceremony which the President-Elect has selected for this year.

Near Admiral Cary T. Grayson, retired, heads the committee planning this year's event.

Will Revive Great Ball.

One concession to the pomp and color of the most brilliant of the one-day inaugural shows of the past has already been made. The official ball, dropped since the first administration of Woodrow Wilson, will be revived.

Because of the sweep of the Democratic party at the polls last November in numerous other races besides that for President, the inauguration will take on something of the atmosphere of a Democratic party jubilee.

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, following an old custom, will administer the oath of office. A platform at the traditional site, the east plaza of the Capitol, will provide the scene for giving the oath and delivery of the inaugural address, if the weather is suitable.

In case of inclement weather, the ceremonies are sometimes conducted indoors at the Capitol, making it impossible to seat more than a portion of the crowds of 100,000 or more who usually attend.

Andrew Jackson's second inaugural day found a deep snow and cold weather forcing the ceremonies inside. Polk took the oath during a pouring rain; Franklin Pierce while a snowstorm raged.

At Lincoln's second inaugural his listeners stood ankle-deep in mud. But the worst storm of all was produced in 1909, when William Howard Taft took the oath of office. Weather described as a blizzard gripped Washington, virtually cutting off all wire and rail communication for most of the day.

President Hoover was welcomed into office by a driving rain, but the ceremony was held on the portico.

Injured Indian Prisoner Saves Captors in Storm

The Pas, Manitoba.—How an Indian prisoner with bones broken in an airplane crash crawled through a sub-arctic blizzard to bring help for his captors was told in this Canadian outpost as an aftermath to the death of William A. Spence, star northland flyer.

The Indian, Buster Whiteway, was being returned to civilization by an officer of the Canadian mounted police to face the white man's laws. The plane bore the captive, Corporal R. Graves, of the police, an Indian interpreter and Spence. It turned over in a forced landing on the treacherous ice of Moose lake.

The pilot was crushed to death and the others were seriously injured. The Indian prisoner, his ankle broken, crawled away from the wreckage.

Into the blizzard lay liberty, but the injured brave chose the other course. He dug his way through the snow as the mercury stood at 40 degrees below zero until he attracted Indian fishermen.

Immigrants Conception Suffer

The annual parish supper of the Immaculate Conception Church will be held at White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue, Wednesday evening from 8 to 12 with music by Paul Zucca's orchestra. All the societies of the church are joined in sponsoring the supper for the benefit of the church.

The missionary societies of St. James M. E. Church will hold an exhibition of quilts at the home of Mrs. Margaret Treadwell, 185 Fair street, on Tuesday, February 28, from 2 to 5 p. m. Anyone having quilts to loan is requested to please phone 1249-M.

South Roadout Coffee Social

The Young Ladies' Auxiliary of the South Roadout M. E. Church will hold a coffee social Thursday, February 16, in the church.

Collector Delinquent, Township Has Surplus

Altoona, Pa.—Allegheny township, Blair county, had a surplus in its treasury as the new year started because of the delinquencies of a tax collector.

Frank Earl, collector of school, county and road taxes for many years, was accused of converting $17,541 of tax money to his own use over a four-year period. He was arrested, tried and sent to prison.

Ransoms for the tax collector gave the township a check for $14,500 and agreed to return to the district back tax duplicates aggregating $5,538 in settlement of the case. Officials estimate about 50 per cent of the back taxes can be collected.

With these funds deposited in the bank, the township was able to meet 1933 with a balanced budget and a treasury surplus.

Yiddish Speaking Irish Woman Gets School Job

Roston, Mass.—For years the Boston school committee had been urged to appoint an attendant officer a woman who could speak Yiddish. Most Bostonians were a bit skeptical when the committee recently announced it was meeting this demand by naming Miss Irene Donovan to the job. It developed, however, that Miss Donovan speaks Yiddish fluently.

Bride Market on Boom, $1,800 New High Mark

Auckland, New Zealand.—These are boom days in the bride market among Solomon Island cannibals. The natives are agog over news that Saritona of Sinerago has paid a record price of 120 "monies" (about $1,800) for a wife. He bought the dusky maid on the installment plan and will be the rest of his life paying for her.

Tobacco Seed Used as Food

Animals can live and thrive on a diet of little else but tobacco seed. This was proved by the Connecticut agricultural experiment station experts, who declare that when tobacco seeds are fully ripe they are entirely lacking in nicotine and so nutritious in quality as to make a good food for mammals. The doctors base this statement on results obtained from experimenting with albino rats. It was found that these animals would grow to maturity and reproduce successfully if fed almost exclusively on ripe tobacco seeds. All that was added to this diet in the case of the animals used in the experiments were a small percentage of inorganic salts and a few drops of cod liver oil.

Of this amount $20 was for a special annual missionary fund and the remainder for the regular collection. Four women from the missionary group of the association presented a playlet, "For the Building Fund." This little play was written by Mrs. Will Plank.

Should Never Had a Valentine.
Puff never had a valentine. She told me so herself. While looking at the pretty ones displayed along the shelf.

And as to please the winsome male my heart was well inclined. I bade her fix her choice on one exactly to her mind.

I told her that Saint Valentine would bring it to her door. And she must kiss him heartily a dozen times or more.

She gave consent with charming grace. Nor made the least complaint at treating so familiarly this amiable saint.

And when the day came 'round I took the valentine myself. That I might give her sweet surprise. And watch the little elf.

With ready kisses on her lips she met me in the hall. And said—"You're only Papa! You ain't no saint at all!"

Like misdirected valentines, some people's hearts seem to be in the wrong places.

Al—I tell you, no one can fool my wife! Jo—Then how did you get her?

A little miss of four came tearfully to her mother one morning with the complaint: "How can I button my dress when the button is in the back and I'm in the front?"

He—I'll bet when you have to do your own washing you wish you had invented some other man.

She—Yes, I wish I'd married Mahatma Gandhi.

Valentine Sparklers—The nation succumbs to nothing so quickly as a popular song. A vivid imagination is often more dangerous than a little learning. Some folks are naturally bright; others are merely "lit up." Many people owe their goodness to the fact that they have never been tempted. No one has ever yet been able to make both ends meet by stretching the imagination. Home is where the bliss comes. You don't have to collect bliss; they just accumulate. Even if you don't get anywhere, it's a satisfaction to know you did your best. Nobody is perfect—not even you. Don't break into a house like a lion or you may go out like a lamb chop. If, as has been said, "war is hell," what is paying for it? The wisest man yields something to custom, but he doesn't yield too much. Some people make change as though they hated to let go of the money.

Daisy—And how is Erlene doing since she married that rising young doctor?
Elsie—Oh, she tells me she is doing something grand.

It is strange that people who never have the time to embark upon charitable or other good works always manage to squeeze in the odd bridge game or two every week if not daily.

Hitch-Hiker (at door)—Lady, I really do not know where my next meal is coming from.

Woman—Well, this is no information bureau.

Between a wife running around to bridge parties and the husband belonging to several clubs it looks as if most modern marriages are conducted on the club plan.

He—Can you make cakes like your mother used to?
She—Yes, if you can put up with the indignation father used to have.

The only problem confronting a woman when she entertains her bridge club is getting something to put under the mayonnaise.

(The Moss Feature Syndicate, 808 Summit Avenue, Greensboro, N. C.)

Overproduction
"Do men do for keeps, making promises," said Uncle Eben, "is bound to find himself one of the worst sufferers from what they call overproduction."

PUFFY
"Let's head for Monterey," said Puff. "Okay," says Pedro Cat. "I have a friend in that fair town, a real aristocrat."

"Why, all the bowing, Puff," asks Don. "Oh, I'm just getting set. I must rehearse," says Pig called Puff, "my rusty etiquette!"
